CANDIDATES FOR THE OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS

Up to the present time we have been informed of three candidates for the office of the Board of Public Works. They are:—

Norman R. Willard, of 402 Mass. avenue, who has been an officer in the Arlington Board of Trade, and is an architect by profession.

The second name is William S. Fairchild, of 52 Old Mystic street, who is a contractor, with business at the Old South Building, in Boston.

The third name is Frederick C. Gardner, of 10 Egerton road, who is an electrician and well known in Arlington, from the fact that Mr. Gardner has in previous years, run for office.

AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT IN WHICH TWO PERSONS WERE SERIOUSLY INJURED

One of the most serious automobile accidents that has occurred in this town in many months, happened on Tuesday morning, about 8.25, when a Ford sedan used in taxi work, and operated by William O'Connell, of Park street, hit an Arlington bound Winchester car, head-on. The accident happened on Mystic street, just beyond "Camp You Say," and at the point where the new roadway ends and vehicles take to the street car tracks. O'Connell had Miss Genevieve R. Hickey as passenger, a teacher in Winchester, and whose home is at 11 Oak street, Belmont. He evidently did not see the approaching car or else thought that the car was proceeding toward Winchester. The crash was heard a great distance and the sedan was demolished. Both O'Connell and Miss Hickey were seriously injured, each receiving fractured skulls besides being badly cut with flying glass from the windshield and windows of the sedan.

The only statement secured after the accident was from passengers on the electric car and from Motorman William E. Gray, of Melrose Highlands, who had charge of the car. Gray saw the machine coming toward him and sounded his gong, but the sound did not carry far enough to warn the driver of the machine. Just before the crash came, the motorman stepped back from his station and in this way saved himself from serious injury. For the impact drove the controller box back some distance, into the street car. There were many passengers on the street car, but none were hurt. Mr. O'Connell was rendered unconscious. Miss Hickey was conscious when taken from the wreckage. Both were bleeding profusely and it was necessary to make a tourniquet to stop the flow of blood from Mr. O'Connell's arm. Patrolman Carroll, Moore, Barry and Pick were rushed to the scene in the police ambulance. Miss Hickey was placed in a passing automobile and taken to the Winchester Hospital where she was at once placed on the danger list, it being found that her skull was fractured.

Miss Hickey was removed from the Winchester Hospital to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital for observation on Tuesday afternoon, and latest reports are that she has a good chance of recovery, although her case is a serious one. Mr. O'Connell was operated on at the Symmes' Arlington Hospital, Tuesday afternoon, when a clot of blood was removed from his brain. The physicians feel that he also has more than an even chance of recovery.

O'Connell has been employed for some time as a local taxi driver and was considered very careful.

ARLINGTON BOARD OF TRADE HEAR BOTH SIDES OF BONUS BILL BUT VOTE AGAINST ITS PASSAGE

The fact that the members of the Arlington Board of Trade are interested in the bonus bill, (or compensation bill) now before the Senate, was evident in the large attendance at the meeting in G. A. R. Hall, on Tuesday evening, when this question was to be debated, as one of the features of the meeting. The first speaker was, Commander Frank W. Harwood, of Arlington Post, American Legion, who outlined the purposes of the Legion and of the pledge of the same.

The affirmative side of the question was taken by James J. Mullen, Jr., assistant clerk of the Charlestown Court. Mr. Mullen is a very able speaker and during the half hour that was allotted to him, he gave many figures by which the audience were given an opportunity of judging for themselves as to the merits of the bill. The adjusted compensation bill, or bonus, Mr. Mullen explained, has been before the Legislature at Washington for four years. The question has been, just what would meet the needs of the men who served in the World War. Fifty bills have been presented to Congress. Finally the American Legion was asked to help draw up a bill to meet the needs of the soldiers, sailors and marines and the adjusted compensation bill was put before Congress.

This bill offers four plans:—First, adjusted pay, $1.00 per day for those

ROMANCE OF LAST SUMMER CULMINATES IN WEDDING

A romance that began last summer on the tennis courts at Chestnut Hill, ended in a wedding, when the bride, Miss Jennie E. Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stanley, of 45 Henderson street, was married to Mr. Guy J. Stone, of Harvard, Mass., at 27 Cleveland street. The couple successfully eluded their many friends, and were quietly married at 10 o'clock, on Monday morning, February 4, by Rev. Warren N. Bixby, rector of the Church of Our Saviour.

Mr. Stone is a graduate of Bromfield Academy. The bride was educated in Arlington schools and since has had the opportunity of much travel.

After a short honeymoon, the couple will reside in their new home at Ayer road, Harvard, Mass.

MORRIS—SMITH

On Tuesday evening, February 6th, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newton C. Smith, 32 Sagamore avenue, West Medford, Miss Mary Mack Smith became the bride of Rev. Herbert Brooke Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morris, of Lawton, Oklahoma. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry S. Potter, of the First Baptist church, Arlington, at 8 o'clock.

The wedding was a simple one with only the intimate friends of the couple and relatives attending. The rooms were artistically decorated in cut flowers. Miss Miriam Scott, of Oakland, Maine, played the wedding march. Miss Smith was attractive in the bridal gown of white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her only attendant was Miss Islay Strachan, of West Roxbury, who as maid of honor, wore white and black crepe de chine and carried orchid shade of sweet peas. Mr. Marr Morris, brother of the groom was best man.

An informal reception was held with the Hardy Catering Company, of this town, in charge of refreshments. The couple left for Lawton, Oklahoma, where they will make their home and where the groom is rector of the St. Andrew's Episcopal church.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Bradford Academy and has been active in various branches of social service work in Boston, especially in the South End House, and has also, for a year, served as pastor's assistant, to Rev. H. S. Potter, of the First Baptist church.

Mr. Morris is a graduate of the Southwestern University of Tennessee, and the Cambridge Theological school, 1923.

ARLINGTON OBSERVES EX-PRESIDENT WILSON'S FUNERAL

While the nation paused to observe the funeral services of the late ex-President Woodrow W. Wilson, Arlington too observed it in a fitting manner throughout the town and in the schools.

The order from the Selectmen closed all offices and business places from the hours of 2.30 to 3.30, and the bells on the Orthodox Congregational church were tolled between these hours by the Sexton, Mr. Charles Johnson.

At the Regent Theatre, during the performance, a two minutes' pause was made during which time the audience sat in complete silence. Throughout the public schools there were exercises when some form of recognition was made to the day.

At the High school a special assembly was held, at which time the principal, Mr. Gammons, read the Governor's Proclamation and Senator Lodge's tribute which was given before the Senate. The hymn, "How Firm A Foundation," was sung. At the Crosby school each class teacher gave the individual classes a brief history of the life of the ex-president, between the hours of 3 and 3.30. The Parmenter classes read various extracts from writers on the work of the late ex-president, also some of his excellent traits of character. These readings tended to impress courage, honesty, patriotism in the hearts of the pupils.

All flags in the class rooms were at half mast from Monday, until after the funeral. The other Grammar schools also observed in a fitting manner the event of the day.

The flags on our public buildings will remain at half mast for thirty days, by order of President Calvin Coolidge.

VELMA J. MOORE APPOINTED TO TAKE CHARGE OF REFERENCE AND CATALOGUE WORK AT ROBBINS LIBRARY

Miss Velma J. Moore has been selected by the trustees of Robbins Memorial Library to take charge of the work laid down by Miss Nettie Baston some weeks ago, at the Library. Miss Moore will have charge of the reference and catalogue work, with her desk in the Reading Room.

Miss Moore was born at Echemony Point, Nova Scotia. She graduated from the Dalhousie University, Halifax, with an B. A., in 1918. Then she took a teacher's training course at the Provincial Normal school in Truro, Canada, and taught school for a time. Later she took a course in the Ontario Government School of Librarianship, at Toronto, and in 1922, was connected with the Toronto Library. She comes to Arlington highly recommended for her work, and has a pleasing personality which no doubt will assist her in becoming acquainted with the duties and the patrons of the library, whom she hopes to assist.

At present Miss Moore is residing in West Newton, and she will continue to do so, commuting back and forth, until she is able to make other arrangements.

EX-SELECTMAN GEORGE I. DOE EIGHTY-THREE YEARS OLD FEBRUARY SIXTH

Ex-Selectman George I. Doe, of 44 Jason street, passed his eighty-third birthday on Wednesday. He made no special observance of the day other than to take dinner with the family of Mr. Henry P. Worthley, at Somerville, former residents of the town.

Mr. Doe and his wife celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary, January 21st, with only a quiet family party, owing to the somewhat delicate health of Mrs. Doe. Mr. Doe, however, is in the best of health. He was born in Parsonsfield, Maine, the son of Alvah and Martha Jane Leavitt Doe. He came to Boston, sixty-three years ago the 9th of January, as a clerk for an uncle, who carried on a shipping business of building materials. He remained with him eleven years, then went to New York, where Mr. Doe was in the dynamite business for nine years. He retired in 1881 and went to New Hampshire to reside in 1889. He came to Arlington at the time the Jason street property was opened. It will be thirty-five years the 21st of February, that Mr. and Mrs. Doe ate their first meal in their handsome home on Jason street.

Mr. Doe has served the town as Selectman for eight years and four months, being appointed to fill out the unexpired term of George Tufts, who died in office. Mr. Doe was elected twice after this, serving three years each time.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH ZEMAN MARRIED FIFTY-THREE YEARS

On Thursday, January 31st, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zeman, of 34 Williams street, passed their fifty-third anniversary of their marriage, very quietly at their home. They have been residents of the Heights for the past thirty years, but were married in South Boston, on January 31, 1871, where they resided for twenty years, then moving to the Heights section of the town, so being what one might term pioneers in that part of the town.

The couple were natives of Bohemia. Mrs. Zeman before her marriage was Miss Josephine Opal. The day was quietly spent, no special observance having been planned, but kind friends and relatives remembered the day and showered the couple with gifts and messages. The evening was spent with a family party.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeman have three daughters, Mrs. A. M. Blanchard, of Somerville; Mrs. Frederick H. Miller, and Mrs. Elizabeth Leahy, of Arlington Heights; also two sons, Francis and Joseph Zeman, of Charlotte, N. C., and twenty-one grandchildren.

SEARCHLIGHT CLUB TO DISCUSS TOWN AFFAIRS AT ITS NEXT MEETING

Town affairs will be discussed at the next regular meeting of the Searchlight Club, on Thursday, February 14th, at 2.30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. A. A. Lawson.

Miss E. Caroline Pierce, Town Clerk, will speak on "Our Town Government."

Mr. Frank V. Noyes, chairman of the Zoning committee, will speak on "The Zoning System."

A member of the Athletic committee will present the plan for the proposed shelter for girls on the Spy Pond playground. The meeting will be followed by a question period and discussion.

MR. DICKEY'S RECITAL IS FEBRUARY 26

Mark Dickey's piano recital is set for Tuesday evening, February 26th, at the High school hall. While Mr. Dickey has devoted most of his time to composition and organ work since his residence in Arlington, he should, if anything, be more accomplished as pianist than as organist as he studied piano and theory several seasons with Arthur Foote, the distinguished American teacher and composer, while his organ instruction was received in some scarce half-dozen lessons from Albert Snow, now organist at Emmanuel church, Boston.

As the seats at the High school are not numbered and there is little choice of seats at a concert of this kind, in order to induce an advance sale of tickets and to protect himself against our uncertain New England winter weather, Mr. Dickey has taken the liberty of dividing a rather singular arrangement in regard to tickets. The price of tickets will be 65 cents (including tax), but they may be had on any day previous to the day of the recital for 55 cents. They are on sale at Hilliard's, 673 Mass. avenue.

Would your children Need a Stepfather?

If you should receive that call to-day, to-morrow, or the day after, would you leave an estate big enough to take care of your family? Or would it be necessary for your widow to look for your successor to support your family? Would your children have to have a stepfather to keep the wolf from the door?

Many widows are forced to marry again for their own self-preservation and that of their families. Think, Mr. Man, are you permitting to exist a condition which would make it necessary for your children to have a stepfather?

We will be glad to discuss adequate protection with you. Consult us to-day.

GONE TO HIS REWARD

On Sunday, at his home in Washington, the one man who for fifteen years at least has occupied a most conspicuous place in the world's affairs, passed into a sleep that eventuated in that which knows no earthly awakening and so into history. Woodrow Wilson, twice President of the United States was, on February 1st, prostrated with what was at first thought to be a not serious illness, but it was the climax of several years of invalidism, the heart failed to function and the end came quietly and peacefully at noon last Sunday.

The combination of events that resulted in his election as President were strikingly peculiar, a division of the dominant party in the country giving to the minority party the coveted honor in the first election; four years having been insufficient to heal the rupture in two smaller states secured for him a majority in the Electoral College for a second term.

Early in President Wilson's second term as President, normal conditions were torn asunder by the brutal attack on Belgium by Germany, and a World War resulted. In the second year of his administration a new Congress was chosen. Never in the history of our country has a President and his administration had an equally emphatic repudiation at the hands of the legal voters as that administered in that election. A few days after that election which reversed the party control in both branches of Congress, Germany raised the white flag of surrender and the four years of frightful sacrifice of human life was at an end.

The sudden departure for Europe by President Wilson as the "Evangel of Peace," his reception abroad; his dominating influence in a certain phase of European readjustment; his return with a plan that was repudiated by the U. S. Senate; his starting on a tour of this country to convert the people to his view; his physical breakdown that early forced his return to Washington;—these and many other matters of equal importance, are so familiar and of so recent date that giving more detail is not required to refresh memory.

It is on these facts, or at least in their general outline, that one of these days a reliable history of the political career of our deceased ex-President will be written, his mental power measured and the place he is to hold in history determined. Few men in public life have been so bitterly assailed by people not agreeing with his avowed purpose and aim—none surely have been more extravagantly praised by admirers. None but the strong are capable of achieving this. But, however, we may differ, few, if any, will fail to gladly endorse the tribute paid by President Coolidge, in announcing the death of Mr. Wilson, in which he says:—"As President of the United States, he was moved by an earnest desire to promote the best interests of the country as he conceived them. His acts were prompted by high motives and his sincerity of purpose cannot be questioned. He led the nation through the terrific struggle of the World War with a lofty idealism which never failed him. He gave utterance to the aspiration of humanity with an eloquence which held the attention of all the earth and made America a new and enlarged influence in the destiny of mankind."

New building undertaken in United States in December showed gain of 10 per cent over December, 1922.

In explaining proposed tax revision Treasury Department says: "When this country really gets back to a peace-time basis of taxation it is probable that, including normal and surtax, a total tax of 10 per cent will yield to the government the most revenue with the least disturbance to business."

TOWN MEETING MEMBERS WHOSE TERM OF SERVICE HAS EXPIRED

At the coming March election there will be names placed on the ballot to be voted upon, to take the place of Town Meeting members whose term of service has expired.

In order to acquaint our readers with the men and women whose term of service closed with 1923, we print the list below. No doubt there will be many who will seek re-election, and if they have proved themselves worthy of this important trust, we hope they will receive the approval of the voters at the election, but if it is found that they have neglected their responsibility, then it might be up to the different chairmen of the precincts to obtain men and women whom they believe will be conscientious in the discharge of their duty. While it is within the province of any voter who may desire to become a Town Meeting member, to fill that office by securing the right number of signatures to his or her nomination papers (which is practically an election), still it might not be a bad idea if the chairman of each precinct secured a record of attendance of each member, as a guide for his qualification as a town meeting member.

We believe that the majority of the men and women who have and who are serving as town meeting members, have endeavored to give the precincts they represent, the best kind of representation, still we do not believe it is inappropriate, to remind those who may be thinking of taking out nomination papers, that they be not unmindful of the duty that goes with the office. The list follows:—

A practical talk on "Successful Salesmanship" will be given on Monday, February 11th, at 7.30, at the Cambridge Y. M. C. A., by Maurice E. Field, who has had eight years' practical experience as a road sales supervisor; branch manager and salesman and has taught salesmanship in several of the cities of our Commonwealth. Last fall, Mr. Field gave such a talk, which was so much appreciated by men that he was asked to repeat it on next Monday night. It is open to all men who are interested in the subject, without charge and should appeal to a large number, as Charles N. Schwab's statement is true, "We are all salesmen, constantly selling our ideas, plans and energies."

tomers are large consumers. Mr. Trask came to Waltham, October 1, 1918, from Hampden County, where for three years he had served as county leader of boys and girls' club work. He was the first county club agent in the United States and is largely responsible for much of the success of club work, not only in this county but throughout the entire state.

As the chief executive of the club department, he has developed this branch of extension service work from an enrollment of 200 partly organized boys and girls with 41 clubs and 28 local leaders to an enrollment of 3,000 efficient boys and girls, with 275 clubs and 213 trained local leaders.

The achievement club idea is one of Mr. Trask's hobbies, and it has been developed to the highest degree in this county. So well recognized is his leadership and organizing ability that he is constantly in demand to serve in an advisory capacity in various agricultural projects, exhibitions and fairs throughout the state.

In financial matters his ability is equally well recognized and his success in securing support from cities, towns and individuals for worthy projects, has largely contributed to the success of the extension of agriculture hereabouts.

BEGINNING OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES ON

"Industries Along Sucker Brook"

Written by Jacob Bitzer

In our issue of last week we printed a report of the paper written and read by Mr. Jacob Bitzer, at the meeting of the Arlington Historical Society, on "Industries Along Sucker Brook." These industries were seven mills that at one time or another carried on business. Two at least are now engaged in business. One of the mills was located in East Lexington and the others in Arlington. Mr. Bitzer made such an interesting story of each of the mills that we propose to print his story, one each week. The first is that of Fowle's Mill and follows (Editor).

FOWLE'S MILL

Three hundred years ago the territory which now comprises Arlington was in its natural state. No white man had yet invaded this region, and the Indians were in full control. They had created a few trails and burned an occasional clearing to meet their needs. Otherwise this region was as created by nature.

It is not hard to imagine the geography of this region as it was then, a wide plain, covered undoubtedly with meadow grass, which extended from Cambridge to the hills rising in the west. The hills were covered with dense woods, fallen trees and dead branches having made a jungle which had been penetrated only by the Indians and wild animals that inhabited this section. Through this valley there flowed a small stream which was placed here by nature to drain this region. Its source was in a boggy section in what we now call the Great Meadows of East Lexington. It flowed easterly for about three miles, and then northerly until it emptied into Mystic Lake. In its course for the first two miles this brook had a fall of over one hundred feet. This briefly describes our territory when the white settlers first arrived.

The early records show that in 1636, a road was cut from Cambridge to Concord for Rev. Peter Bulkeley and his company, so that he could transport his goods to the settlement which he had formed in Concord. This road is now Massachusetts avenue.

The next year Captain George Cooke obtained from Cambridge, a grant of twenty acres of land on the border of Mill Brook. There he built a dam and erected a mill. This mill was located on the lowest level of the water course and only a short distance from its outlet in Mystic Lake. It was the first grist mill run by water power in all the new territory, and must have been the first of its kind in the New World. A single wind mill in Cambridge was in existence, but "it would only grind corn when the wind was from the east." The site of Cooke's mill is plainly marked by the banks of earth that extend into Fowle's Pond. About this time, Captain Cooke built a house on the site now occupied by the Albert Winn homestead.

In 1640, Captain Cooke obtained the grant of a farm of 600 acres "Adjoining his mill." (According to the researches made by Mr. Edwin H. Worthen of Lexington, and Thomas N. Hutchinson, of Winchester, the location of this 600 acre grant was north of Woburn street, Lexington, and not adjoining the mill).

Captain Cooke and his brother, Joseph, arrived in Cambridge in 1635. They came registered and designated as servants, to enable them to more easily escape from England. Both were men of means and great ability, for shortly after arriving, they purchased Newtown, as Cambridge was then called, several houses and much land from the colonists. Captain Cooke was a man of great energy, strong convictions, and commanded the respect of the people in Cambridge and Charlestown. He was one of the type of men who seemed to be created by Providence to lay the foundation for a New World. He was selectman of Cambridge in 1636; a representative to the General Court from 1642 to 1645; Speaker of the House in 1645, and served on important committees. He was one of the earliest members of the Ancient and Honourable Artillery, and was made captain in 1643. He was elected one of the Reserve Commissioners of the United Colonies in 1645. Captain Cooke returned to England near the end of 1645, being excused by the General Court from further service, "being to go for England." He entered Cromwell's Army as colonel, and sacrificed his life in the service of the Commonwealth, for he was reported slain in the wars in Ireland.

The erection of the mill by Captain Cooke was a great enterprise for those days, and determined the location of highways in this territory, for we find that in 1638, a road was laid out from the Watertown line to Cooke's Mill at Menotomy (now Pleasant street), and in 1643 Captain Cooke and others were appointed to lay out the way from Cambridge to Woburn (now Mystic street). The Woburn records in 1646 describe this road as "leading to Cambridge mill and town."

With the departure of Captain Cooke for England the business of the mill was evidently abandoned, and the buildings allowed to fall into ruin.

In 1670, Edward Collins, of Medford, acting as attorney for Mary Cooke of England, daughter of Captain Cooke, sold the mill privilege, buildings and twenty acres of land to John Rolfe, of Nantucket. Mr. Rolfe erected an entire new mill on the old site.

In 1681, Rolfe's widow was granted permission to make a dam above the old mill pond "for to keep water in, for to accommodate the mill with water." This refers to the dam at Mill street. At the death of John Rolfe, Sr., the mill and other parts of the estate passed to his son, John Rolfe, Jr.

William Cutter had married Rolfe's sister, Rebecca. John Rolfe, Sr., had given to William Cutter an acre of land on which he, being a carpenter, had built a house. In 1685, the junior John Rolfe, "in consideration that my honored father, John Rolfe, late of Cambridge, deceased, did in his life time give unto my loving brother-in-law, William Cutter, of the same town, carpenter, a small piece of land at west corner of his homestead to set a house on, etc., gives to said Cutter, four acres of land and a share in the mill privilege." William Cutter, ultimately acquired, by purchase, nearly all the original holdings of the Rolfe family in Menotomy.

From 1693 to 1698, William Cutter was subject to law suits, instituted by Mary Cooke, of England, to recover the grant of twenty acres to her father, but Cutter was able to maintain his title.

Jonathan Cutter in 1768, sold to Ammi Cutter the same premises. In 1795, Ephraim Cutter, inherited from Ammi Cutter the same property, and built a new dam and mill below the old one in 1800. In 1841 the property passed to Benjamin and Samuel L. Cutter. In 1850, Benjamin bought from his brother the undivided half of the property. Philip B. Fessenden, brother of Ichabod, son of Ichabod, leased the mill of Benjamin and Samuel L. Cutter in 1843, and conducted the business under the firm name of P. B. Fessenden & Company until 1850; Fessenden, Whittemore until 1853, and Russell, Fessenden & Company until 1860. It then passed into the hands of Samuel A. Fowle, son-in-law of Benjamin Cutter. In 1863 Samuel A. Fowle began business in the old mill, which he had acquired from his father-in-law, Benjamin Cutter, where he ground corn. Shortly afterward he erected a two-story building, 40x50 feet, where he began the grinding of drugs, paints, etc. Mr. Fowle soon became widely known as the manufacturer of Arlington Wheat Meal, bags of which could at one time be found in almost every grocery store in New England.

He also began grinding log-wood for dyes, on an extensive scale, and old residents in the town can remember the great piles of log-wood that were stored in the yard of the mill. With the rapid development of the business of the mill, Mr. Fowle found the water power no longer adequate, and supplemented it with a 250 horse-power steam engine. The business flourished for a number of years, and weathered the great fire which destroyed this extensive plant in 1883.

When the business passed into other hands, Mr. Fowle retained his interest in the real estate. A large building in the rear was leased to F. C. Parker & Son for the manufacture of leather. In 1913, James H. Gerlach acquired the plant and manufactured house furnishings, for about four years. He then sold the property to the Huff Electrostatic Separator Company, the present occupants of the plant. This company manufactures electric machinery for separating ore from foreign matter. The International Carbon Products Company, manufacturers of graphite, occupy a portion of the building. Herbert B. Johnson is president of both Companies. They have very large plants in the south and west, and use the Arlington plant only for experimental work. Their headquarters are in New York and Boston.

WHO OPPOSES TAX REDUCTION?

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon seems to be a porcupine for accuracy when it comes to defending his tax reduction figures. He leaves no point of attack. He answers his critics at every turn, not with abuse, hot air or evasion, but with plain statements and figures which even a school boy can understand.

The opposition to Mr. Mellon's tax reduction program comes not from the people, but from the professional politicians who continue to harp along the old demagogic lines of taxing wealth. Mellon calmly shows that after you have taxed wealth out of existence, the burden of government falls with a double force upon the small taxpayer who has to make up losses which the investor who refuses to utilize his money in productive industry, would under a low tax system be paying.

If the politicians block the tax reduction measure, they will have robbed the people of over $300,000,000 for 1924.

A LETTER WRITTEN FIFTY-NINE YEARS AGO RELATING TO THE ASSASSINATION OF LINCOLN

The following letter was written by Mr. A. E. Newton, father of Miss Elizabeth J. Newton, librarian of the Robbins Memorial Library, and Mrs. J. T. Trowbridge, which is especially pertinent at this time in view of the approaching anniversary of our late martyred President Abraham Lincoln about whom the letter is written, describing the consternation that came with the news of the assassination of the President. The letter is dated April 15th, 1865, and is as follows:—

"We are living, we are dwelling in a grand and awful time!"

Do I live? Am I awake? Or is it not all a horrid dream—a hideous night-mare? These are the questions I have asked myself a hundred times today. What events! What transitions, have the past few days witnessed here! Three grand illuminations—the last on Thursday evening outshining all others, Washington was literally one blaze of glory—perhaps the most brilliant spectacle ever seen on this continent, or on any continent, and the inhabitants mad with exultation and triumph.

SPECIAL NOTICE

At eight P. M. on Monday evening, February 11, 1924, a hearing will be given Mr. Rosario Ciccolo, 19 Foster Street, Arlington on his application for a location for a two-car garage, (cement blocks) wooden roof, asphalt shingles) at the same address, as shown upon a plan filed in the office of the Board of Selectmen, Arlington, Mass. All interested persons may be heard at this time.

Per order of the BOARD OF SELECTMEN.
S. Frederick Hicks, Clerk.

Twenty-four hours later, and a sudden thrill of horror runs through the same streets, and all men stand aghast at the commission of the most stupendous crimes earth has ever witnessed! Consternation, rage and tears take the place of exultant joy—horsemen, couriers and guards are hurrying in every direction—the people in a maze of horror and grief crowd the streets, and a night of indescribable terror and anguish succeeds.

Fortunately, perhaps, for me, I knew nothing of all this (having been engaged in my room writing till 1 o'clock), until morning, when a fellow lodger came to my door before I was dressed and exclaimed, "Have you heard the news? Lincoln is murdered, and Seward is assassinated!" At first I thought he was only trying to show how much he could startle me; but he insisted it was true. I then thought it could be only a sensation street rumor, impossible of belief. However, I dressed as soon as convenient and hurried out to the nearest news depot. As I approached I saw groups of men with sad and anxious countenances, gathered around the fortunate possessors of copies of a morning paper, who were reading aloud. I caught sentences of fearful import, and soon had a glimpse of the terrible words: "Assassination of the President." I rushed into the store—not a paper was to be had. I started for the President's House. A double guard was at the outer gates, who were answering the anxious inquiries of the crowd. "Is the President alive?" I asked. "No, he is dead!" was the answer. "And Secretary Seward?" "It is thought he may survive, but there is little hope of Frederick." All this time I was in ignorance of where and how the assassinations had occurred. I hastened down the avenue and at length succeeded in getting a paper by paying double price. I hurried back to the Home in I street, to carry the terrible news to the ladies there, but found that two of them had been at the theatre the evening before, and were eye-witnesses of the awful tragedy! Consequently they all had passed a nearly sleepless night. Here I found a group of "Contraband" inquiring with distressed countenances, "Is Massa Linkun killed?" One woman said she had inquired of a white man on the street, and he had answered with a brutal exultation, "Yes! thank God its true, and you niggers have all got to go back to slavery again!" "Is it so, Missus? Has we got to go back again?" they asked with fearful consternation.

Of course no business has been done today. All travel from or to the city is stopped. Stores have been closed and Pennsylvania avenue, so late ablaze with triumph, was soon draped in mourning, and all the public buildings with it—flags drooping at half mast, and the heavens dropping showers of tears all day long.

How this must have come upon you at Boston—upon the whole country, from Maine to California! Who can tell what will come next? Is there a power at the helm, overruling all, and using these appalling instrumentalities to effect His wise designs? Or has chaos come again? Down deep in me is a hope that the former is true—and a feeling that perhaps by this awful method the evils of a too speedy closing of the war—a too easy granting of terms of settlement—are to be averted. For all through the past exultations I have had a foreboding that they were premature—that the people were not ready for a true peace yet—that the North had not yet suffered the full penalty for its participation in the great crime of the Nation. But who can tell what is before us now? Were there ever times like these? Were there ever events so mighty—tragedies so fearful? My brain whirls, and I can write no more. . . . The consternation of the freed people everywhere is great. President "Linkun" was, they believe, their true and best friend, and some have feared that his death would be the destruction of all their hopes and their liberties. Yesterday morning I heard a group of them on the avenue, discussing the dreadful news, with tearful eyes and loud lamentations. One old Aunt raising her voice above the others, exclaimed in tones of hope and trust—"Well, dere's one dey can't kill no-how. Dat's de Almighty. Can't kill Him, suah! And He's at de helm. Dey can't kill Him no-how." And this she continued to vociferate as long as I was in hearing.

Of course you have learned all the particulars of this stupendous crime long before this reaches you. Young Booth, the actor, has certainly attained the highest pinnacle of his ambition, has enacted, in the most dramatic manner, the grandest tragedy in human history—one which will send his name down the centuries with eternal infamy.

I last saw the President on Tuesday evening, when I heard him make his last and perhaps most significant public speech. I stood in the crowd before that "historic window," and heard every word, and noticed how much more cheerful and vigorous he seemed than I ever saw him before. The speech, though I could not agree with every part of it, increased my respect for him as a man, a thinker and a statesman. It showed that he had a policy, which he considered the best, and which he was willing to announce and to stand by, against all opposition—though I believe it to be a defective one. It may be that his removal, even by such terrible means, was seen by higher wisdom to be necessary to avert the carrying out of that policy, and to insure a better one. At all events, we are likely to have a different one, under the administration of its successor. And now shall we look for that "Military Despotism," which has been all along prophesied as a result of the war—and a precedent to the true reconstruction, the full regeneration of our country?—Who can tell?

A GLIMPSE OF ARLINGTON
By Charles S. Parker, Editor And Publisher Of The Arlington
Advocate For Nearly
Fifty-Two Years

The place now called Arlington is linked in with the earliest days of New England Colonies because here was built 17 years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, the first mill for grinding corn by water power in this whole country.

In events preceding the war of the Revolution, this town had no small share. The Blackhorse Tavern, located on Mass. avenue, near Tufts street, was one of the regular meeting places of the Committee of Safety. By a narrow margin this committee escaped from this tavern, in season to avert arrest on the night of April 18, 1775, by British troops.

Arlington Minute-Men under command of Captain Locke, marching toward Concord, April 19, 1775, encountered the retreating British troops and with others continued the attack which led to a rout, only arrested by the cannon of Lord Percy had brought into action, to save Pitcairn and his panic stricken force. It was in Arlington that the first capture of war materials was made in the War of the Revolution. More dramatic events connected with April 19, 1775, occurred within the limits of this town than in Lexington and Concord combined.

Arlington has the honor of being the originator of what is now called garden farming. It developed the industry to what might be termed an exact science and in so doing produced a larger money profit per acre, than any other town the world over. The stream of water running from the westerly border of the town, easterly, to empty into Lower Mystic Lakes has had a share in bringing fame to Arlington. One of the first saw factories in the country had its location at Grove street; the printing of cotton cloth was an industry at Schouler Mill. The leather splitting knives of Deacon J. C. Hobbs had world wide fame and sale. But more important than these and towering above all combined in importance to the world, was the invention of an Arlington man, Amos Whittemore, whose carding machine made possible the enormous broadening of the cotton cloth industry that quickly followed.

Then, why, with all these notable things, has Arlington so slight historic fame. Simply, because her identity has been buried in a multiplicity of names, first, Menotomy, or Cambridge Farms, then North-west Precinct, then West Cambridge, now Arlington. One asks, "What's in a name?" The answer, "Nothing if you throw it away."

But in spite of these handicaps nothing has hindered her growth, and now Arlington has a population of over twenty-one thousand and in addition we have a civic centre, calculated to arouse the envy of any community less fortunate. It is a matter of pride that Arlington possesses its public library and its Memorial Town Hall, with its spacious grounds, largely because the instigator of the former gift and the principal donor of the latter, the late Winfield Robbins, was influenced, as he expressed it, "by the appreciation of Arlington's good sense in conduct of town affairs as much as a desire to honor a family name."

Mr. R. Walter Hilliard, president of the Board of Trade, has as a slogan, "Arlington—Best Town on Earth." Nature has given to it one of the most picturesque groupings of hill and dale to be found the country over; past generations have given to it a business prosperity and artistic development that is unusual. It remains for the coming generation to so cultivate the community spirit that in this respect, as well as along material lines, it can be truly said, "Arlington—Best Town on Earth."

FREDERICK M. KILMER
FORMER ARLINGTON
RESIDENT DIES IN WATERTOWN

Frederick M. Kilmer, for four years a resident of Pleasant street, Arlington, passed away on January 27th, at 42 Windsor avenue, Watertown, where he had recently made his home. He was seventy-two years of age and a native of Needham. For many years he was treasurer of the Derby & Kilmer Desk Company, with factory in Somerville. Office furniture and desks was the business, which has been enlarged since the successors to these two men have come into the ownership of the business, so that it has become one of the largest of its kind.

For nearly twenty years Mr. Kilmer made his home in Somerville and was active in its civic affairs, serving in the city government, and for two years in the State Legislature. He was president and chairman of the building committee of the Somerville Y. M. C. A., and a trustee of many institutions.

After leaving Somerville, he removed to Arlington, purchasing the house at 105 Pleasant street, which he later sold to Mrs. Edwin S. Plaisted, and who this fall, sold the property to Mrs. Hargrove. While in Arlington, the family attended the First Baptist church, where they made their influence felt.

Mr. Kilmer is survived by a wife, a sister, who is a teacher in the Boston Public schools, eight children, and 11 grand children. The children are Charles H., of New York; Mrs. Mary Alice Higbee, of Maryland; Frederick M. Kilmer, Jr., of California; Mrs. Sarah W. Jamieson, of Maine; John A., of Worcester; Adelbert L., of Natick, and Miss Helen B., and Miss Alice, of Watertown. Burial was in Mt. Auburn.

BOARD OF TRADE

who did home service, and $1.25 per day for men who served overseas, the minimum to be $600. Second:—certificates, which are nothing more or less than 20-year endowment policies, but on which a man can draw certain amounts at any time from any bank that might be willing to loan the money and in the event of death of the holder of the certificate, his heirs to receive the benefits. Third:—vocational training which would fit the soldier for a position. Fourth:—farm and home aid. The speaker stated that if we read history, we will find that at the opening of the first war here, the Continental Congress proclaimed a bonus for the duration of the war and that several of the states paid what was then a very high bonus to its soldiers. In the war of 1812, and the Mexican War, as well as after the Civil War, bonuses were paid. Some of the leading generals of the great wars were given grants of land for their services. The war lasted 19 months. The nations across the water showed their appreciation of the service of its men in a very substantial way. The speaker asked what had been done in America. The men received $33 per month and a certain percentage of this was sent home, a part was used to buy Liberty bonds and some for insurance, so that the soldier had only about $3 left each month. He cited the cases of Federal employees who, during the war, had received high pay and bonus besides. Money was wasted here during the war on ships, supplies and many other things. Wages increased and some of the men who were discharged before the war was over were able to secure positions that brought high wages. More came home to find a slump in business.

He spoke of the unfilled contracts at the close of the war and of the great amounts spent in making good with these firms who had the contracts. All this for the civilian, but nothing for the soldier. This country is a country where the majority rules. The people have not been given the opportunity of expressing themselves on this subject. Mr. Mullen stated that 22 states have passed state legislation relative to the bonus and that 33 chief executives of states had asked the bill be passed by the Washington authorities. Mr. Mullen felt that the bonus bill as now presented, is a fair and honest request. Four sessions of Congress have adopted the bill, and three have recommended its adoption. The speaker stated that the great question is, how is the thing to be financed. Some contend that the thing cannot be unless taxes are raised. Mr. Mullen is of the opinion that it could be financed out of the big surplus of each year. Mr. Mullen had figures to carry out his statement.

The speaker for the negative side was John M. Hurlburt, of Lexington. Mr. Hurlburt opened by stating that he believed that all disabled men should have all they can get and all widows and children of soldiers should be taken care of, but able bodied men should not receive compensation for doing just what was their duty. He stated that he was opposed to the bonus bill, because of the fact that the disabled were not mentioned in it at all. The soldiers were not contracted employees and were proud to render service. The men represented the best of the nation and to them the nation looks for leadership in all lines of public endeavor. To establish a wage basis would destroy patriotism. Mr. Hurlburt stated that no more disgraceful thing could be found than men holding mass meetings to demand the bonus. Mr. Hurlburt stated he had been quoted as attacking the Legion and wished to state that this was not so and that he has been misquoted. He stated that the Legion claims about one eighth of the men who were in the service, but a poll of those in favor or against the bonus had never been taken. The service did the men good and men came back in many cases, in far better physical condition than when they entered the service. He cited the cases of the men receiving a bonus of $60 at the close of the war. He was of the opinion that if the profiteers would be made to pay the bill, the whole thing would be wonderful, but it will be the small salary man who is trying to have a home and bring up his family that will suffer in the end, and the soldiers themselves would pay in the end more than they received, because of taxes and the like, that would have to run through a period of years to pay the bills. Mr. Hurlburt is of the opinion that pensions must follow along and cited as an example, the Civil War.

At the close of the speaking an opportunity was given the men to ask questions but none were asked. A poll was then taken on the question "Should the Arlington Board of Trade favor the bonus bill?" and the result of the ballot was sixteen in favor and fifty-eight against the bill.

The meeting was proceeded by a turkey supper, served by the Hardy Catering Company with the usual good taste. President R. Walter Hillard presided over the business meeting and during this, the members stood and remained in silent meditation for a few moments out of respect to the memory of ex-President Woodrow Wilson.

Announcement was made that Arthur Birch and Frank H. Hubbard, of the organization were in the Cambridge Hospital, where they were recovering from operations.

E. R. Barker reported to the committee sent out to look into the cost of erecting a monument for the World War veterans. He stated that the committee had secured plans from three sculptors and found that a single figure would cost $10,000, and a three figure group, $30,000. The only site this committee could find that would be available was the High school lot, no particular place mentioned. The committee was discharged and the president is to appoint another committee to carry this project still farther.

Rufus W. Blake reported for the free parking place, stating that B. & M. R. R. had set a price of $50 per month on the lot owned by them near the centre station and back of the Associates building. It was thought that this sum could be raised by public subscription.

Charles H. Forsaith presented a plan for the welcome to Arlington signs and gave figures as to the cost. On motion of David Buttrick, it was voted that the Board of Trade purchase some of these signs and place them at entrances to the town.

Incidental to the meeting J. J. MacDonald sang a group of songs and told stories.

JOINT RECITAL BY

SABATINI AND ROBISON

In Jordan Hall, on Thursday evening, February 14th, Carlo Sabatini, the Viennese violinist will make his first Boston appearance in joint program with Rulon Robison, the well-known tenor. A graduate with high honors from Vienna Conservatory at the age of sixteen, Sabatini has since concertized with marked success in European capitals. He played with the symphony orchestra of Vienna and Berlin and under Sir Henry Wood in London. His part of the program will include the Handel Sonata in D major, Dvorak Concerto and a group of pieces by Scarlatti, Schubert-Wilhelmj and Hauser.

Mr. Robison will sing an Italian group by Bassani, Falconieri, Mozart and Sadero and numbers by Ireland, Shaw, Fisher, Harty, and Bax.

ST. JAMES THEATRE

Through an arrangement with Kilbourn Gordon, George A. Giles, managing director of the Boston Stock Company, has secured "The Cat And The Canary," for the talents of his organization at the St. James this week. Its production there will be the first time in stock. The play got the longest run of current productions of last season, weathering Broadway for 379 performances, while at the Plymouth it kept Boston audiences mystified through a successful engagement of 12 weeks.

Primarily a thriller, yet "The Cat And The Canary," has its welcome moments of humor and a pretty romance. The heroine, Annabelle West, will be played by Miss Middleton; Mr. Gilbert will furnish comedy relief, as blundering Paul Jones. The remainder of the excellent parts will be taken by Miss Layne, Mark Kent, Harold Chase, Ralph Morehouse, Ralph Remley, and others including the return of Viola Roach, who has been absent for two weeks, on account of illness.

MIDDLESEX SPORTSMAN'S ASS'N

The February Bulletin is out. A ladies' night will be held Tuesday evening, February 26th, with a concert by home talent, followed by dancing.

A smoker and sportsman's movie show are scheduled for Tuesday night, February 12th.

Thursday evening, February 21st, there will be a "turkey shoot." The marble game offers $17 in gold prizes, in a contest for the biggest score up to April 26th.

The "Duck Club" has got a good start. Tickets at 25 cents are going like hot cakes. The money from the tickets goes to help feed and care for the large flock of ducks in Spy Pond.

SERVICES AT THE ARLINGTON STREET CHURCH

A program of Russian church music was given on Wednesday noon, in Arlington Street church, Boston, by a chorus choir of which Miss Alice G. Lenk, 7 Chapman street, and Mrs. Louise C. Pray, 16 Pelham terrace, are members. These programs are given on the first Wednesday of each month, from 12.10 to 12.40 p. m. On other Wednesdays at the same hour there are services with brief addresses.

Speakers at these services during February are, Rev. James A. Fairley, of Jamaica Plain; Rev. Edward P. Daniels, of Hingham, and Rev. Abbott Peterson, of Brookline.

The chorus choir also sings on Sunday afternoons, at the four o'clock vesper services. There is a brief address at each of these services, to be given this month by Rev. Palfrey Perkins, of Weston; Rev. Harold E. B. Speight, of King's Chapel, and Dr. Paul Revere Frothingham, minister of Arlington Street church.

ARLINGTON FIVE CENTS

SAVINGS BANK

Has Opened Branch Office in East Arlington

That the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank is keeping abreast of the times is apparent by its opening of two branch banks for the transaction of its growing business.

The Treasurer, Wilson D. Clark, Jr., with the interest of the public at heart and realizing that in a comparatively few years, Arlington will need more than one bank for the convenience of the townspeople, if it is to give efficient service, has secured quarters at either end of the town.

The quarters at East Arlington is at 190 Mass. avenue, and it would seem to be a most ideal location. It is the corner store in a brick block, where there is plenty of light and air. The interior has been made most attractive by a few coats of paint in a pale cream with mahogany trimmings. The long counter that extends the length of the room is of steel, but painted to give the impression of mahogany. The top has a covering of linoleum. The floor is covered with linoleum in the soft browns that suggest an oak floor, and the oak recessed windows permit of window displays, which at this time, holds a handsome fern and a palm. The lighting scheme seems especially good, and at the same time attractive.

A PICTURE OF YOUR FUTURE HOME

Did you ever see one?

You have a mind picture of it most likely—nearly every one has.

Call at our office and let us show you a REAL picture of it with floor plans.

Then we will tell you what it will cost to build it. That information will be decidedly interesting to you.

If you will just give us the opportunity we are sure we can fit a plan to your family ideals and help you make it possible to build it.

A call at our office is the only opportunity we ask and that does not obligate you at all. Call this week.

about the location of the branch bank, is that the building occupied by it, is on the site of the Samuel Butterfield farm, the first president of the bank, from 1860 until 1872. A large portrait of Mr. Butterfield is hung in the bank.

The hours of banking will be the same as at the main bank, with the exception that it is closed each day from 11.30 until 12.30. For the present, Mr. William D. Israel, who has been connected with the main bank, will be in charge and Miss Alberta Hadley has been installed as clerk.

On Monday the branch bank at Arlington Heights will be opened. It is located at 1314 Mass. avenue, and is for the convenience of present patrons as well as new ones. The beauty of the branch banks is, that even although you may have your deposit in the bank at the centre, if you wish to make a deposit at either the East Arlington Bank or that of Arlington Heights, you may do so.

BOY SCOUT BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The results of the games last week were:—

Team	Won	Lost	Points For	Points Against
Troop Eleven, 14, Troop Six, 3; Troop Seven, 33, Troop Three, 6; Troop Three, 22, Troop Four, 11; Troop One, 35, Troop Six, 20.
Troop Seven	5	0	218	30
Troop One	5	1	123	115
Troop Three	3	3	124	105
Troop Eleven	2	2	40	66
Troop Six	1	3	30	77
Troop Five	1	3	34	24
Troop Two	0	1	24	133
Troop Four	0	4	26	133

Troop Seven, the leading team in the league, is developing into a fine basketball team under the coaching of their efficient Scoutmaster, Mr. Lewis Amann. Francis Keefe, captain, is the best forward in the league, and he is also a regular member of the High school team. Joseph Donahue, centre, is one of the leading scorers in the league and is one of the mainstays of his team. "Billy" McNamara, "Red" Beasley, "Lefty" Louder and "Monk" Leary, are the other members of this team.

The league is also fostering scouting as well as basketball and one of their rules is, that no tenderfoot scouts will be eligible to play after February 22nd. First and second place teams will be given prizes at the close of the year.

CALL A DOCTOR IF YOU HAVE A SORE THROAT

Do you know that there are many folks who are foolish enough to believe that a sore throat is a matter of no consequence? Perhaps you, yourself, may have made this mistake in the past. Well, if you have, you have been taking long chances. Let us consider for a moment some of the things a sore throat may mean.

It may indicate the beginning of scarlet fever.

It may mean diphtheria.

It may mean tonsillitis.

Or, again, it may mean other things equally serious. But suppose it means just one of the three above mentioned diseases. Worth thinking about, isn't it?

Scarlet fever is always a dreaded disease because of the probability of other ailments following it—such as kidney disease. Besides, if unrecognized, it may be spread to many persons. Everybody knows how serious tonsillitis may be, causing heart trouble or other results of infection.

It would seem to be only common sense to have the doctor pass on all sore throats to make sure that they are not of the more serious varieties. In view of the fact that there are cases of scarlet fever in the town, these precautions seem especially pertinent at this time and are recommended by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health.

RICHARD BURGIN IN JORDAN HALL

FEBRUARY 21st

On Thursday evening, February 21st, Richard Burgin, the concertmaster of the Boston Symphony orchestra, will give his first Boston recital. Born in Warsaw, Poland, in 1892, Burgin took his first lesson on the violin when he was five; at the age of twelve, he made his first appearance with the Warsaw Philharmonic orchestra and at thirteen, he came to New York, and as a child protegee, played in Carnegie Hall. After graduating from Petrograd Conservatory under Professor Auer, he accepted the position as concertmaster at Helsinki. In 1920, Mr. Burgin was called to Boston to fill the important position of concertmaster of the Boston Symphony orchestra. His attractive program includes selections by Bach, Sinding, Schumann, Tschalkowski and Paganini. With Felix Fox, the well-known pianist, Mr. Burgin will play the Sonata in D minor, Brahms.

SPECIAL NOTICE

At eight P. M. on Monday evening, February 18, 1924, a hearing will be held in the Selectmen's Office, Town Hall, Arlington, on the application of Mr. Felix Corio, 84 Oxford Street, Arlington, for the location of a two-car, first-class garage at the same address, as shown upon a plan on file in the office of the Board of Selectmen, Arlington, Mass. All interested persons may be heard at this time. Per order of the BOARD OF SELECTMEN, S. Frederick Hicks, Clerk.

SPECIAL NOTICE

A hearing will be given in the Selectmen's Room at the Town Hall, Tuesday, February 19, 1924, at 8 P. M., on the establishment of Building Lines on both sides of Massachusetts Avenue from Central Street to Forest Street.

Per order of the JOINT BOARD, John A. Easton, Clerk.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Gale, of Belmont, are enjoying a trip to Atlantic City.

—Mrs. H. L. Stratton has returned from Hartford, Conn., where she has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Parker.

—Mrs. Harry Tinkham entertained with a Mah Jong party, on Saturday afternoon, at her home on West street.

—The teachers and officers of the Heights Baptist church will hold their monthly meeting and supper next Tuesday afternoon.

—Mrs. H. B. Converse entertained last Wednesday afternoon, with a delightful Mah Jong party at her home on Florence avenue.

—Mrs. Norval Bacon returned on Friday evening, from Hartford, Conn., where she has been spending the past few weeks with her cousin, Mrs. Buck.

—The Harmony Circle of the Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist Episcopal church met on Wednesday, February 6th, at the home of Mrs. Kennison, Westminster avenue.

—Mr. Douglas E. Currie, of 194 Park avenue, underwent an operation for tonsils and adenoids at the MacDougal Hospital, Boston, on Wednesday, February 6th.

—The Religious Education Committee of the Park Avenue Congregational church held a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Howard Hayes. Plans for the month were made.

—Members of the Friday Social Club will be hostesses at the Poverty party to be held at the Park Avenue Congregational church, on Friday evening, February 8th. All members and friends of the congregation of the church are invited to be present. An interesting and unique program has been planned and costumes will be worn.

—The first meeting of the Parliamentary Law Class, under Mrs. Susan Plummer, of Lynn, was held at the Park Avenue Congregational church, on Friday, February 1st, at 10.30, with over twenty present.

—The teachers of the Junior department of the Park Avenue Congregational church held a meeting at the home of Miss Gladys Brenton, 176 Park avenue, on Tuesday evening for plan and work discussion.

—Mr. D. Fletcher Knight, of Tanager street, and Mr. W. P. Smith, of Boston, spent the week-end at the camp of Mr. Smith, in Wilmington, camping out. On Sunday, Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Smith motored up and spent the day.

—The regular meeting of the Friday Social Club will be held on Friday, February 13th, at the home of Mrs. Joseph C. Holmes, 246 Park avenue. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Harvey and Mrs. Edith C. Holmes.

—Paul White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul White, of 25 Cliff street, celebrated his fourteenth birthday, on Wednesday, with a theatre party at the Colonial Theatre in the afternoon, after which an informal party was held at his home, where a most enjoyable time was enjoyed.

—A large representation of the various societies of the Sagamore Christian Endeavor Union was present at the February Congress meeting, held on Tuesday evening, February 5th, at the Heights Baptist church. Mrs. Mabel Stevens and committee were in charge of the supper which preceded the meeting.

—The Arlington Heights Study Club will hold the regular meeting next Tuesday, February 12th, at Hambury Hall. The subject of the meeting will be, "Persia, Ancient and Modern." Mrs. Foster Doane will read a paper on "The Spread of Mohammedanism." Mrs. George Russell will deal with Persian literature and Mrs. H. H. Stinson will give, "Various Aspects of Modern Persia." Mrs. Joseph Downs will lead the discussion.

—At a Tea given at the Copley Plaza last Saturday the engagement of Miss Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Roberts, Jr., of Claremont avenue, Arlington Heights, to Henry Young, 3d, was announced. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Young, Jr., of Newark and Bernardsville, N. J., and is now a member of the class of 1925 Harvard Law school. He prepared at St. Paul's school and later went to Princeton, class of 1921. Miss Roberts has studied art in Boston. A wedding in June is planned.

—On Friday afternoon of last week, there gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Bent, 20 Linden street, twelve little friends of William Henry Bent, to assist him to celebrate his third birthday. It could rightly be called a jonquil party, for these spring flowers were in evidence everywhere, even the paper caps which the little tots donned as they marched into the dining room being fashioned to represent this flower and they gave an added fascination to the charming bits of humanity who were too sweet for words in their head coverings. William Henry with Charles Pool, led the march into the dining room, where the birthday cake with its three candles, held a conspicuous place on the lovely decorated table.

—The Hooking Club met Wednesday, with Mrs. Frank H. Garrett, of Tanager street. This club, which is composed of Mrs. Garrett, Mrs. George A. Clark, Mrs. Harold Stratton and Mrs. Clinton Schwamb, have been meeting afternoons for the past year, at the homes of the different ladies of the club for the purpose of exchanging ideas in regard to rug hooking, which has become quite the fad. In order that the ladies may have more time, they have been meeting lately one day of the week at the home of one of the members. Mrs. Clark entertained the ladies three weeks ago at luncheon, and last week the members met with Mrs. Harold L. Stratton, when she served a most delicious luncheon. This week the meeting was with Mrs. Garrett, who also served luncheon.

—Miss Mary E. Butler entertained the Sunshine Club, on Wednesday afternoon, February 6th, at her home, on 103 Park avenue. The assisting hostesses were, Mrs. Benjamin Hickey and Mrs. Harold Ring. The afternoon was spent with bridge and straight whist. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Clarence E. Johnson, Hillside avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, February 20th.

"FATHERS' AND SONS' NIGHT"

ARRANGEMENTS for the entertainment for Fathers' and Sons' Night, Arlington Boy Scouts, February 12, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, are practically completed and nearly all of the talent has been signed up. Chairman A. W. Lombard, of the entertainment committee has arranged for a fine orchestra, which will play during the evening and play just the kind of music boys like. He has also secured Frank Lane, the all-around entertainer, who makes a specialty of pleasing boys. Mr. Lane does all kinds of funny stunts, performs a lot of clever sleight-of-hand tricks, tells funny stories and illustrates them with funny sketches. Incidentally he plays the piano with his toes while standing on his head and does other things just as ludicrous and just as skillful. The other act will be by an eccentric musical team, who will play on numberless different instruments, and at the same time put over clean but side-splitting comedy. Just what team this will be will depend on who is playing in Boston, next week; but it will be a good one. Then of course there will be the big "feed," a lot

Dear Editors:—

Referring to the accident, Tuesday, on Mystic street, I thought it might be of interest to you to say that the occupants of the car were not thrown out as reported in the papers, for the driver of a passing truck and myself removed them with difficulty. By the time the police arrived they were removed and covered. I was waiting for the approaching car and saw the accident before it happened, and as it happened.

The driver was pinned in the wreckage and only by bending the spokes of the driving wheel, was I able to lift him out. His wrist was badly cut and he was unconscious. The girl which we did not, at first glance see, was on the floor covered by the back seat and crushed behind the driver's seat. She was apparently semi-conscious and asked for some one to help her. She had a terrible hole in her head just over and between the eye and nose. Both occupants were terribly cut and bruised, and no doubt probably internally hurt and both lost considerable blood.

When the police arrived, they sent the girl in a passing auto to the Winchester Hospital, and we lifted the man from the street into Mr. Dixon's garage. She, (Mrs. Dixon), kindly opened the garage which was heated, and then the ambulance came. As Mr. O'Connell's arm was bleeding terribly, Policeman Barry tied a handkerchief around it and stopped it, afterwards I called him and showed him the pool of blood which the injured man had lost. It was a very tragic accident, and I would not believe that two people could get so terribly cut and mangled, in a small sedan.

It only shows the danger of driving on the car tracks and the precaution which our local taxi drivers and others should take.

I trust the information will be of interest to you.

Very truly yours,

Norman C. Hall.

Now is a good time to take an inventory of your home and yourself—a regular, business-like inventory for 1924.

Have you in your home any inefficient, worn-out gas equipment, which should be replaced by new and up-to-date types? How about your gas range? Will it cook 1098 meals during 1924 in a way that will give satisfaction?

And how about hot water service? If you are still a victim of the tea-kettle method of heating water, how long will you remain in this class? If you are using a gas heater, how many years has it been on the job?

Think, also, about the house-heating question. Do you have to heat the whole house to keep one room warm just for a few hours each day? Have you ever given your gas company an opportunity to show you how gas service actually saves money for you?

Start 1924 right. Take an inventory now.

—St. Agnes' Court, C. D. of A., will hold their next regular meeting on Monday evening, in G. A. R. Hall.

—The Ladies' Sodality of St. Agnes' church, held their regular meeting, on Tuesday evening, with Rev. Joseph J. Leonard in charge.

—Mrs. Nora Finn Farrell, of Attleboro, spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Hannah Dacey, at her home, 1263 Mass. avenue.

—John R. Hendrick, of 106 Trent street, is to be a candidate for reelection as a town meeting member from Precinct 6.

—The Feast of St. Blaze was observed in St. Agnes' church, Sunday afternoon, with blessing of throats, both upper and lower church being used for this purpose.

—The firemen were given a run to Henderson and Sawin streets, on Sunday evening, for a false alarm sent in from Box 13. Patrolman Donovan was assigned to investigate the case.

—Another name has been added to the list of candidates for the office of member of the Board of Public Works, Frederick C. Gardner, of 10 Edgerton road, having signified his intention of being a candidate for the office.

—John F. Daily, supreme agent of the Knights of Columbus, will be the guest of Arlington Council 109, at its meeting in K. of C. Hall, next Monday evening. At this meeting also, will be presented the entertainment program which was postponed from the last meeting, owing to the death of George W. White, a member of the council. A collation will be served.

—Mr. Nixon Waterman the poet and journalist, a former resident of Arlington, contributed an original poem at the fifth annual dinner of the Boston Dickens' Fellowship, given at the Twentieth Century Club, Thursday evening, February 7th. Among the guests were Miss Viola Roach, of St. James Theatre, who portrayed scenes from "Little Em'ly," a stage version of "David Copperfield."

—James Ray Cole Lodge, Knights of Pythias, celebrate their 18th birthday and incidentally the 60th anniversary of the order, Thursday evening, February 14th. A banquet will be served at 6.30, following which, there will be dancing. The invited guests are Grand Chancellor Harry G. Beyer, Supreme Representative Harlan P. Knight, Grand Master of Executive William F. Beaman and Superintendent of the Ins. Department, Clifford E. Jones.

—At the annual election of officers for the Sunday school of the Calvary M. E. church, the Board approved the following nominations: General Superintendent, Mr. Paul Zeigler; Supt. Beginners' Dept., Mrs. Ruth K. Strait; Supt. Primary Dept., Miss Louise Fader; Supt. Missionary Dept., Mrs. John Hyslop; Supt. Home Dept., Mrs. Phinney; Supt. Cradle Roll Dept., Mrs. Walter Carle; Secretary, Miss Elizabeth Watts; Treasurer, Miss Bertha Hamm; Missionary Treasurer, Miss Charlotte Botham.

—Announcement has been made of the marriage of James R. Frame, of Boston, and Miss Mildred E. Goodwin, daughter of Mrs. Susan D. Goodwin, of Arlington Heights. According to the dispatch, which comes from Portsmouth, N. H., Mr. Frame, who gave his age as 23, and occupation as a clerk, and Miss Goodwin, who gave her age as 20, and occupation as stenographer, went to Portsmouth, last Saturday, where they had the five day law waived by Judge Ernest L. Guptill and were married by City Clerk Edward A. Weeks, Jr.

—The retreat for women, which was held in St. Agnes' church, last week, closed on Sunday afternoon with upward of 1500 women present for the closing exercises by Rev. Fr. Stanton, S. J. All through the week the attendance was very large. The closing exercises were impressive at which time Fr. Stanton left a helpful message for the women. On last Saturday evening, Holy hour services were held with a special musical program by the choir. The retreat for men opens next Sunday evening, at 7.30, and will continue throughout the week each evening.

—Unfavorable weather has no effect on the spirit of the Sunday evening audiences at Calvary M. E. church. A constantly growing number of people are finding out that "The Friendly Church," is the place to spend a pleasant Sunday evening. Rev. A. J. Strait last Sunday, in a sermon on, "Driving Down Your Stakes," showed the great need in these days of lengthened moral limits for a deeper hold on the fundamentals of Christianity. "Growth," he declared, "must be the same in the spiritual and the physical world. Just as the growing tree drives deeper its roots, so a human life expanding into the open freedom and limitless space of outward influence must reach down and take a firmer hold in the groundwork of love for God and fellowman." The musical program of the service, included a solo by Mrs. Ruth K. Strait, a number by the newly organized Boys' Choir, under the direction of Mr. Louis Whitchurch, and a male quartet.

—The business meeting of the Arlington Assembly Club was held at Ye Lantern, on Friday evening, February 1st, with forty-four present. Mrs. S. A. Lawson, Mrs. Noah Rogers and Mrs. Walter Angus, were elected vice-presidents; Mrs. Hayward Macomber was re-elected secretary, and Mrs. G. W. Benway, treasurer. The committee were unable to nominate a president before the meeting but during the same, Mrs. Horace W. Clark was nominated as president from the floor. Following the meeting, bridge and straight whist was enjoyed, at which time the prizes were awarded to Mrs. Walter K. Thayer for bridge; Mrs. Worcester, —William V. Talbot and his party left here on Sunday morning in the midst of a snow storm, for West Palm Beach. They expect to make the trip in seven days, stopping over at several places.

—At the meeting of the Junior C. E. of the First Baptist church, Sunday, February 1st, the following officers were elected: President, Charlotte Davies; Vice-President, Jean Hayden; Secretary, Daniel Cotton; Treasurer, Robert Atwood.

—Mrs. W. H. Simpson, of Riverbank Court, Cambridge, entertained Mrs. H. W. Clark, Mrs. William D. Storey and Mrs. Peter S. Baker, with luncheon and bridge at the Copley Plaza, on Wednesday, February 6th.

—The alarm from Box 39, on Monday evening, was for what appeared to be a fire in the vestry of the First Universalist church. The smoke pipe of the furnace became overheated and smoke filled the vestry. No damage resulted.

—The Eastern State banquet and dance of the Y. P. C. U. of the Universalist churches, will be held at the Universalist church this Saturday evening, February 9th. The banquet will be at the church and the dance at Odd Fellows' Hall. Young people from many parts of the state will be present.

—The Women's Social and Missionary Union will meet at the First Baptist church next Monday afternoon, February 11th. Luncheon will be served from one to two o'clock, after which a program will be given by Arthur and Elizabeth Landers. Indian sketches will be given by members.

—The winter meeting of the Bay State Historical Society will be held with the Brookline Historical Society in the High school, corner of Tappan street and Gorham avenue, Brookline, on Saturday, February 16th, at 2 o'clock. All members of the Arlington Historical Society are cordially invited.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. East, of Summer street, left Arlington, the last of last week for California. They go on a personally conducted trip, stopping enroute to California, as inclination dictates. They will be absent from Arlington for an indefinite period.

—Miss Margaret Grannan had the leadership in plans for the dance which was given at the Copley Plaza, Monday evening, the proceeds of which were for the benefit of a needy charity. The Sunday Herald carried a splendid likeness of Miss Grannan in its society section of the paper.

—Oscar Burnham, of Baker avenue, East Lexington, was rounded up again by the police on Monday night and charged with breaking and entering the store of William Who-well. The break happened on Saturday night or Sunday. Burnham, who is 14 years old, was in District Court, last week, charged with two petty breaks at the Heights. On these charges he was placed on probation when his case came up for trial last Saturday morning. He was remanded for trial for next Saturday morning.

—The Woman's Alliance of the First Parish Unitarian church, will hold a fair in the vestry on Wednesday, February 27th, from 2 to 10 p. m. Supper a la carte, will be served from 6 to 8. Afternoon tea, from 3 to 5 p. m. Many attractive aprons and fancy articles will be on sale, also baskets and flowers, candy, food, punch and ice cream cones. There will be a Mystery room in which will be shown mummies and many other interesting things, like those found in King Tut's tomb. Other novel features will be the Grabs and the Trash and Treasure table, where tastes of all kinds may be gratified. Come and bring the family. Admission free.

MAJ. CHURCHILL ON THE RETIRED LIST

Maj. Marlborough Churchill, Field Artillery, United States Army, director of the Military Intelligence Division during the World War, has been placed on the retired list with the rank of lieutenant colonel, because of disability. He has been in ill health more than a year and with Mrs. Churchill, left Saturday, February 2nd, for the south to spend the rest of the winter.

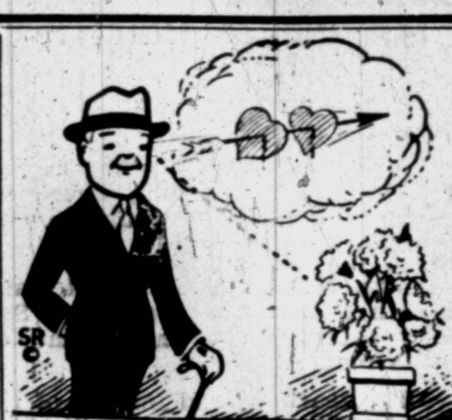

Maj. Churchill is a nephew of Mr. E. L. Churchill, treasurer of Arlington Cooperative Bank.

He is a native of Andover and was graduated from Phillips Academy and Harvard University. He did not attend West Point, but had a rapid rise after being commissioned in 1901 in the Artillery. He went overseas as American Military observer with the French armies in January, 1916, and in 1917 was transferred to Gen. Pershing's staff with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Later he was promoted to colonel and assigned as chief of the Military Intelligence Branch, general staff.

He returned to America in August, 1918, and was made director of the Military Intelligence Division of the general staff in the War Department and was made a Brigadier General at 40, the youngest man then to hold that rank in the army. He was on special duty with the American Peace Commission in Paris.

Lieut. Col. Churchill was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and decorated as an officer of the French Legion of Honor, Commander of the Crown of Italy and Commander of the Belgian Order of Leopold.

THE INTER-CHURCH BOWLING LEAGUE

The Inter-Church bowling league is now getting to the interesting stage and Monday evening as a result of the matches on the Arlington Alleys, the Heights Methodist church team went into tie place with the A. F. G. Brotherhood team of the Heights Baptist church, the latter of which has been twice champions of the league. William Solomon of the Heights Methodist church made a new single string record with 127, and Patterson of the Church of Our Saviour (Episcopal) Team A made the high three string total with 331. The other matches were as follows: Davis team of the Heights Baptist church won three points from the First Baptist church; Team A of the Church of Our Saviour won four points from Team A of the same church, and the Heights Baptist church was awarded four points by the non-appearance of the Calvary Methodist church team. The scores:—

Heights Methodist church—Wilson 282; D. Solomon 293; Stymest 278; Porter 272; W. Solomon 317. Team total 1442.

MIDDLESEX SPORTSMAN'S ASS'N

The bowling teams of Middlesex Sportsman's Association strengthened their positions in their respective leagues last week. The team rolling in the Amateur Boston Pin League has the championship clinched. The team in the Newton League went out of cellar position into the station above the bottom. The bowlers feel that in a few weeks, they will be well up toward the top.

A bowling team has been formed among the members of St. Agnes' Court, Catholic Daughters of America, and the matches are rolled on the Regent Alleys, on every Friday evening. Many of the ladies have had considerable experience at bowling. The teams have been made up with great care so that all will have a chance to win the many prizes that are offered for the season.

A 30 minute ride will win you to the new Essex

And you will join the legions who know this new Six, that is built by Hudson, in saying it provides ideal transportation.

It continues the well known Essex qualities of economy and reliability. It adds a smoothness of performance which heretofore was exclusively Hudson's. Both cars are alike in all details that count for long satisfactory service at small operating cost.

Steering is like guiding a bicycle. Gears shift easily. Care of the car calls for little more than keeping it lubricated. For the most part that is done with an oil can.

Fuel economy is impressive. Oil consumption is unusually low and tire mileage surprisingly high.

The New Essex is backed by a service policy that keeps maintenance down to the minimum.

have the interests of all boys at heart, will meet in old Town Hall, February 14th, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock to organize. Already more than 60 men have signed membership applications and more are coming in daily. This club is to have a two-fold object—to do all it can for boys, boys who are scouts and boys who are not—and at the same time have fun doing it. Meetings will be held at stated intervals. Sometimes the meeting will be a hike of a day or two in the woods, sometimes it will be a card party or a dance, sometimes it will be to listen to a good speaker. But the predominant spirit will be to help boys and have a good time. Any citizen who to whom such objects appeal will be warmly welcomed at the organization meeting, Thursday evening, February 14th, in the old Town Hall.

SCHOOL SPORTS

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATED BY BEVERLY HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

The High school basketball team went to Beverly on Saturday evening and were defeated in a well played and fast game. The score ended 37 to 28, in favor of Beverly High. In the first half of the game the Arlington boys outplayed the Beverly boys and had a lead. In the second half the Beverly boys got going in real earnest and outpointed Arlington all the way through. The five man defense was worked by Arlington as in the previous games of this season, but Beverly played a somewhat similar game.

SHAMROCKS TIED FOR FIRST PLACE

The Greater Boston Ice Hockey League race is now getting very interesting. The Shamrocks, of Arlington, are now tied for first place in the league with Malden. These two teams met in one of the best games of the season on Spy Pond, last Saturday afternoon. The Arlington team which is made up of boys of high school age, but who have left school to enter upon business careers, made one goal in the opening period and held the Malden team scoreless until the last few minutes of play, when the puck hit one of the Arlington players and caromed into the Arlington goal for a tally for Malden. The two teams were evenly matched, consequently the eyes of the rest of the league are on these two outfits, for the fight for the championship cup. The ice was not in the best of condition, but this did not seem to slow the game up a great deal, for both teams played a hard fast game, the contest ending in a score of one to one. Overtime periods were played in an effort to break the tie, but to no avail and darkness put a stop to the game.

A. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM DEFEATS CAMBRIDGE LATIN

The High school ice hockey team defeated the Cambridge Latin school team on last Friday afternoon in a game played on Spy Pond, the game ending one to nothing in favor of Arlington. The game was one that had been postponed several times on account of the weather conditions, and was in the Greater Boston Inter-scholastic League series. The game was a battle royal all the way through and was the first league contest to be staged in the new rink. The two teams were evenly matched and both put up the strongest sort of a game. This win still leaves Arlington up in the top place in the league. Owing to the fact that the game was a postponed one, there were few at the rink to take it in.

The American Ice Hockey team bowed to Canada in the Olympics, in France, in the game played there Sunday, the Canadians winning six to one. Justin McCarthy of this town played one of the wing positions on the American team.

A. H. S. BASKETBALL TEAM PLAYS BEVERLY

Arlington High school basketball team went to Beverly, on Saturday evening of last week, for a game with the Beverly team. Although the game ended in favor of the latter team, there were some fine plays made by our boys, especially by J. Lane and Eddie Lane, also by Captain Keefe. On the Beverly team the brilliant plays were made by Captain Harron, also Butman and Stokes. The referee was Mahan, and Manager Daniel M. Hooley, Jr., timekeeper. Manager Hooley is dangling with Salem High for a game. The scores follow:—

February 29th. has been chosen by Hiram Lodge, A. F. and A. M., as ladies' night, which will be held in Robbins Memorial Town Hall.

Arthur Dean is recovering from a severe sickness and expects to return to his place in the ticket office at the Regent Theatre, soon.

Mr. Edward E. Whiting, who spoke before the Woman's Club, Thursday, was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred T. Baker, of Hopkins road.

Mr. Charles P. Ladd, of Willow place, has received word of the death of his nephew, Rev. George Coolidge-Hunting, fourth bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in Nevada, which occurred February 7th. at Reno.

The members of the Mission Circle of the Universalist church met Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Patterson, at 125 Pleasant street. Papers on Japan were read by Mrs. Wilber Thacher and Mrs. J. S. Lamson, and were followed by general discussion.

Arlington Lodge of Elks, will go to Concord, on next Tuesday evening, the officers of the local lodge having been invited to put on the initiatory work for the new lodge that is to be instituted there. D. D. G. E. R. Fred T. Strachan, of this town, will be the installing officer of the new lodge.

Monday evening, February 4th, the Ida F. Butler Rebekah Lodge held their regular meeting in Odd Fellows' Hall. After the usual business was transacted, a social hour was held and whist was played and old fashioned dancing enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Silliker, chairman; Mrs. Carrie Ayer, and Mrs. Winnie Finley.

The Menotomy Chapter, D. A. R., will meet this Friday, February 8th, at the home of Miss Priscilla Russell, 1108 Mass. avenue, near Robbins road, at 2.30 o'clock. The chapter is planning for a Colonial Tea to be held on Wednesday, February 20th, at the St. John's Parish house, on Pleasant street. Members will attend in colonial costumes and articles of the colonial period will be on exhibition.

St. John's Episcopal church is to observe the tenth anniversary of its rector, on Friday evening, February 15th, at the Parish house, 74 Pleasant street, Arlington. A committee representing the Wards and Vestry and the Women's organizations in the parish, have issued invitations for a reception to Mr. and Mrs. Hall, which it is planned to make an informal gathering of all the members of the parish. There will be music by Miss Olive Doe's Trio, throughout the evening and a buffet lunch will be served.

The Clare Class of the First Baptist church, held their annual guest night on Monday evening, February 4th. A large company were present and enjoyed the entertainment during which a play, entitled, "How the Ladies Earned a Dollar," was given by thirteen ladies of the class. Miss Louise Brown, rendered several vocal selections and Miss Florence Munroe gave readings. Refreshments of coffee, ice cream and cake were served, in the banquet hall of the church from small tables decorated in yellow, with jonquils used as the center pieces. The committee was in charge of Mrs. Lewis.

A delightful afternoon was spent on Tuesday, February 5th, at the St. John's Parish house, on Pleasant street, when Group Three, in charge of Mrs. D. J. Buckley, and Group Six, in charge of Mrs. W. A. Forbes, held a musicale. The performing artists were: Miss King, pianist, and Miss Pearson, contralto soloist, of the New England Conservatory of Music, and Andrina Steele Kenney, reader. The program was excellently given and thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. W. A. Brooks, first vice-president of the Woman's Club, was present. Tea was served by Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Forbes, from a prettily appointed tea table.

MRS. ELIZABETH S. MACDONALD
STAFF MEMBER OF HOME
DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Elizabeth Stone MacDonald, of Newton, a woman of national recognition, as a demonstrator of home life in its most ideal aspects, came to the Middlesex County Extension Service, February 1st, as a staff member of the Home department.

Mrs. MacDonald for several years has been a writer on home management subjects, a lecturer and a demonstrator of home life. She has for some time been editor of the home keeping department of the Modern Priscilla. Her especially noteworthy contribution to home economics extension has been the Priscilla Proving Plant, Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre.

This plant is an experimental home in which, under average conditions, with her husband and two boys she has developed an unique and growing laboratory experiment in better home making. Mrs. MacDonald will apply her talent in home making to the training of Middlesex County women, for a more efficient and satisfying home life.

Her work will be presented in such a form as can be readily extended from one group to another. This is the purpose and spirit of extension service, to pass on to others any helpful information.

Mrs. MacDonald was born on a Vermont farm of New England parentage and is well acquainted with rural life in its many phases.

Graduating from Radcliffe where she completed the four years' course in three years, she took the courses in architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She then engaged as a teacher and after serving for some time as head of the department of the Brookline High school went abroad, where she took a course in L'Academie Colorossi.

RECENT DEATHS

MRS. SUSAN E. PEIRCE

Tuesday, February 5th, Susan E. Peirce, widow of Grenville P. Peirce, passed away after an illness of two months, at her home, 9 Palmer street. Mrs. Peirce was born in Dorchester, September 12th, 1845, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Barry. She married Mr. Peirce, March 12th, 1870, and the couple came to Arlington, to reside, selecting what is now called Arlington Heights, as their place of abode. They resided there some twenty-three years, and when Palmer street was opened they built a house there, which they occupied, and where Mrs. Peirce has since resided, which is thirty years. Mr. Peirce was deceased December 24th, 1893. He at one time was in the grocery business, occupying the store where now is located Hendrick's shoe store.

Mrs. Peirce was of a quiet nature, securing the most pleasure in her home, but has always been identified with the First Universalist church, where in her younger days, she was active.

The funeral was held this Friday afternoon, from the late home at 2.30 o'clock, and the devotional service was conducted by Rev. Fay Fisher, of Milton, but former minister of the First Universalist church in Arlington. The interment was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mrs. Peirce is survived by one son, George H. Peirce, who during the life of the Arlington Boat Club, was an active member, also one daughter, Miss Mira Peirce. There are also three sisters, Mrs. Elmer Clapp, of Rockland, Maine; Mrs. J. E. Cushing, of Milton, and Mrs. W. I. Tucker, of Rindge, N. H.; four brothers, Nathaniel Barry, of Dedham; Thomas Barry, of Milton; Fitz Barry, of Jamaica Plain, and Zenas Barry, of Hanover, Mass.

MRS. HARRIET E. MOODY

After a lingering illness, Mrs. Harriet E. Moody passed away, Thursday, January 31st, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mildred E. Rowe, 79 Everett street, with whom she made her home, the past six months, living prior to that time in Lynn. She was born the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Libby, of Elliot, Maine, on March 4th, 1855, and made her home in Lynn, for over forty years.

The funeral services were held on Saturday, February 2nd, at 128 Washington street, Lynn, at 3 p. m., with the Rev. Mr. Perkins, of the Universalist church, of Lynn. Interment was at Pine Grove cemetery, Lynn.

Mrs. Moody was prominent in Rebekah organizations and was the first Lynn woman to be president of the Mass. Rebekah Assembly, I. O. O. F. She was also the founder and mother of the Past Noble Grand Assembly of U. S., and served in many lodges as deputy.

Surviving her are two children, Mrs. Mildred E. Rowe, of this town, and Mr. Walter Moody, of Lynn, and two sisters, Miss Carrie Libby, of 79 Everett street, and Mrs. James Seavey, of Worcester.

The girls of the High school basketball team, with their coach, Miss Katherine McCarthy, journeyed to Franklin, on Tuesday afternoon, to play the girls of Dean Academy. The Arlington girls put up a strong game, but the older girls were more experienced, and won easily.

In connection with the assembly at the Junior High west, on last Friday morning, a musical program was presented under the direction of Miss Stevens, musical director in the school. The numbers were by pupils of the school, who are proficient on various musical instruments.

The High school basketball team goes to Reading, on next Wednesday afternoon, to play a return game with that school. Arlington will probably be handicapped by the loss of at least three players, who did not pass sufficient points in the mid-year examinations, to permit them to play on the team.

ARLINGTON LOSES TO NEWTON

The High school ice hockey team played the postponed game with Newton High on the latter's rink on Wednesday afternoon, losing by a score of five to two. The game was in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League series and the loss was a bad one for the Arlington boys, who have been going along very well in this league with prospects of coming out on top of the list, at the end of the season. Newton is the fastest team in the league, this season.

HIGH BASKETBALL TEAM WINS FROM READING HIGH

The basketball team of the High school played the best game of the season on Wednesday afternoon, defeating the strong Reading High school team on the local gymnasium, by a score of 31 to 22. Arlington led all the way and at the end of the first half had the score, 17 to 8, in their favor. The team showed some very clever team work, especially in the last half of the game, when they kept Reading on the jump trying to break up the play. This was only the third defeat for Reading this season and broke a long run of victories for the team. John Lane was the point maker for Arlington, and Al Marsters also scored a number of the tallies. During the game, all the subs were used. The summary:—

"FROM SPARK TO FLAME"
PRESENTED BY A GROUP OF LADIES

The first meeting of the year for the new officers of the Bradshaw Missionary Association connected with the Orthodox Congregational church, was held Monday afternoon, in the main vestry of the church.

There was an unusually large attendance when the President, Mrs. Llewellyn Evans, called the meeting to order. The recording secretary, Mrs. Eugene Vinal, read reports of the two previous meetings, and the president gave a tentative program for the year's activities of the association, which promises to be of special interest, as several new features are to be introduced.

Mrs. Roscoe Perry, president of the Arlington Welfare Council, appeared before the meeting to tell what the council is doing in Arlington, along the line of helpfulness to families and individuals, in the town who need assistance. The work has been so systematized that there is no duplication. The council each year has charge of the sending out of Christmas Tuberculosis stamps, the revenue from which is used to finance the free milk distribution in the schools. Miss Emily Tolman was appointed to represent the association on the board of directors, which is made up of a representative from each of the churches and organizations in the town, as far as they are willing to cooperate with the work of the council, with the members of the officers of the poor of the town, ex-officio.

After the disposal of several items of business, a short dramatic presentation called "From Spark to Flame," in two acts was presented by a group of ladies. The lesson to be drawn from the play was one of helpfulness to the church and especially with an effort to stimulate interest in the missionary work of the church. All the characters were well portrayed and it afforded an enjoyable half hour. Those taking the characters were as follows:—

President of the Circle, Mrs. Stanley E. Cook; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Eugene Vinal; Chairman of Missionary committee, Mrs. Osborne H. Pitcher; Supt., Primary department, Mrs. M. L. Henderson; Junior department, Mrs. Frank P. Stearns; Branch Secretary, Mrs. Myron W. Dole; Missionary chairman, C. E. Mrs. William C. Rogers; Mrs. Pass- tea Buck; Mrs. Albert W. Spencer; Mrs. Gertrude Gloom; Mrs. C. F. Win- ner; Mrs. Fond Parent, Mrs. Mortimer H. Wells; Mrs. Will-Get-It-Done; Mrs. B. G. Teel; Cradle Roll Supt., Mrs. J. Stearns Cushing; first High school girl, Miss Ruth Davis; second High school girl, Miss Vera Cameron, representing the young women, Mrs. Albin Cameron; Audience, Mrs. H. Stanley Marsh, Mrs. Dana Jones, and Mrs. John Downes.

SEARCHLIGHT CLUB HOLD AN INTERESTING DEBATE ON
"Equal Rights Federal Amendment Bill"

There was a good sized audience that gathered in the Hearing Room, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, Wednesday evening, in response to an invitation from the Searchlight Club, to listen to a debate for and against amendment to the federal laws, which would read, "Men and Women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Mrs. Arthur A. Lawson, president of the club, introduced the first speaker, who spoke for the amendment, Miss Anita Pollitzer, National Secretary of the National Women's party, who is the youngest officer in that party. She is touring the Atlantic coast states in behalf of the equal rights amendment, which was introduced at the opening of the present session of Congress by Senator Charles E. Curtis, of Kansas, in the Senate, and by Representative Daniel R. Anthony, also of Kansas, in the House.

Miss Pollitzer is indeed a magnetic speaker and is well versed in her subject and that she is a thorough believer of the amendment she is championing, was made evident by her fluent talk. She gave instances where injustices were meted out to the woman because she had no protection from the law and made an earnest plea for her audience to become familiar with our laws relating to women, so that we may use our influence to have those laws changed. The speaker stated that all she was fighting for was to have "equal rights for men and women."

Mrs. Wenona Osborne Pinkham, Secretary of the Massachusetts Civics League, spoke against the amendment. In opening she said she agreed with a great deal that the previous speaker had said, but she could not believe that women will be helped by the passage of the amendment, in fact she felt that in many cases they would be injured, for instance, when it came to applying the same hours of labor for women as for men. She felt that confusion would arise. When we get the law (if we do), the speaker felt that we will not have gotten anything that we really want. We must educate the people first, then better legislation will follow, both for men and women. Mrs. Pinkham, felt that existing inequalities of law affecting men and women as such, are so complicated in character that only specific legislation can reach them effectively. Therefore blanket legislation would be futile.

At the close of the latter's argument, there was an interesting discussion participated in by several in the audience.

The Civics-Conservation and Health committee of the Woman's Club, are making a drive for abandoned articles for the department of mental diseases of the Boston State Hospital on February 12th, 1924.

Potato bags are very much wanted. All kinds of rags are valuable, particularly woolen ones, colored and dark for braid rugs. Silk stockings, ties, ribbons, etc. are acceptable. Clean cardboard, wallpaper, used string, old magazines and books are needed too.

These articles may be left at the Parish house, Tuesday, February 12th, or notify any of the committee and articles will be called for.

Edward Elwell Whiting
Addresses The Club Members

The regular meeting of the club was held Thursday in Robbins Memorial Town Hall, with the President, Mrs. Curtis A. Waterman, presiding. After dispatching several items of business and the reading of reports, the president introduced Mrs. Joseph Atwell, State Legislative chairman, who pleaded for more interest in legislative matters among the women—more study, and intelligent thought, that interest might be stimulated among the members of the family. She presented several bills for consideration, stressing the Immigration Law, which must be passed before June, when the present law expires. Mrs. Atwell is a forceful, witty and intelligent speaker.

Mr. John Bishop was the second speaker, who outlined the work of the playground of last year and indicated the course to be pursued by the school committee, this coming summer.

The afternoon was well advanced when the speaker engaged was introduced. He was no other than Edward E. Whiting, the well known writer of the Whiting column in the Boston Herald. In beginning his talk, Mr. Whiting stated that the Legislative problems was to have been his subject, but as they had been so admirably presented by Mrs. Atwell, and because of the lack of action by the legislative body, he would endeavor to give an intimate rambling word picture of "Washington at close range."

Mr. Whiting spoke of the oil scandal and what he feared would be the impression arrived at by the unthinking and the alien. The Bonus Bill and the Mellon Tax Bill, were spoken of at some length, and an opinion given.

In closing, Mr. Whiting said, don't be disturbed by the radical, if he be false he cannot prevail. Have faith in your government and its institutions, for on that faith rests the foundation of the government.

RETAIL MEAT DEALERS TO HOLD
RALLY, FEBRUARY ELEVENTH, AT THE CITY CLUB

Many of the retail meat dealers of Arlington, will join with hundreds of others from scores of towns adjacent to Boston, in a monster rally and, educational meeting on February 11th, at 8 p. m., at the Boston City Club.

This rally, which is held under the auspices of the Meat Council, of Boston, is for the purpose of promoting and encouraging better merchandising methods of meat and meat products, with a view to effecting savings that may be passed on to the consumer.

Among the speakers will be Charles E. Herrick, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers; Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Company; R. C. Pollock, chairman of the National Live Stock and Meat Board; George Kramer, chairman of the New York Meat Council, and Theodore A. Glynn, Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston. Alton Briggs executive secretary of the Boston Fruit & Produce Exchange, will introduce the speakers.

DEAN ALBERS' ADDRESS

Editor Arlington Advocate:—

The members of the Arlington Men's Club were restrained by their position as hosts from freely discussing the address of Dean Albers, of Boston University Law School, given at their meeting, Monday evening, January 28th. As a guest he was immune from severe criticism, but as he invited it there can be no discourtesy in offering a little leaven to his lump of cold hard legalism, which wholly lacked the temper of divine or even human mercy.

The Dean's subject was a good one, but as he worked it out, was like charity; it covered a multitude of sins. That is to those of his listeners who believe in the Golden Rule and have the milk of human kindness in their souls.

It was difficult to follow the Dean's logic when he jumped from an almost anarchistic individualism to the advocacy of an educational aristocracy. While his ideas on individualism would make him naturally an isolationist, coming from a teacher of logic it seemed illogical in the same breath for him to advocate a World Court.

His plan of selecting the students who should be given the opportunity of High school and college training is certainly un-American nor did it fit in with his demand for a "Hands off" policy in government.

Education is a valuable asset to any man, but his use of it is what counts, and as many men who have been successful, useful and helpful in the world have had little book learning from the schools, and many others who have had a university training have been worse than useless so far as helping the world and their fellow men is concerned, it would certainly take a super physiologist to wisely select the right ones by the plan outlined by the Dean.

In this very connection was it kind, judicial, or anywhere near the truth to label Mr. Bok as "A Faker?" Here is a shining example of one with few advantages in his boyhood, who has been and still is a great asset to his adopted country. One who gives that country and its institutions credit for his personal success, and is sufficiently grateful to return to that country and its citizens an hundred fold of all that he has received. To make a return which will bless every individual man, woman and child of this generation and of the generations yet unborn.

It would not be right to ask for enough of your space to mention at any length several other subjects about which one might differ with the Dean, but most students of political economy would agree that it is a fundamental for the strong to protect the weak—the Dean would probably call it socialism, for he plainly stated that it was none of our business and neither was it the business of the Federal Government to take any interest in the little children in the south who are compelled to lose their childhood while they toil long hours in the cotton mills. The Dean expressed pleasure that the Supreme Court of the United States had upheld this theory, and said that the Constitution should not be amended in this instance nor should it ever have been amended.

Dean Albers must know as every student of American history has come to understand that the reason the Constitution has worked through all these years is because it has been interpreted to meet the people's needs. It has not been interpreted as the fathers who drew it up intended—it could not have been, for they had no conception of the problems which would arise and have arisen. When the court has failed to interpret it according to the demands of justice, morality, and progress, the people have amended it. In '61-65 war was the instrument which the nation used for this purpose, but since that time public opinion and the power of the ballot have been the means used to bring about the desired end.

Take from the people the right to amend their Constitution, and the Constitution would not long survive. It is unfortunate that a man like Dean Albers, whose position gives his words undue weight, should present ideas which gave the impression of iconoclastic anarchy and unfeeling individualism.

Idealism of the most meagre sort, a mere trace of brotherhood of man, or the slightest sign of vision was wholly lacking and "Where there is no vision there is no progress." The Dean may call it "Conservatism," but may the men who heard him be glad to bear the stigma which he attached to "Progressive Citizenship," rather than uphold the ideas of such a "Conservative."
